Area Profile

Located in the majestic Sierra Nevada Mountains, the breathtaking Reno-Sparks-Lake Tahoe area is not your average vacation destination. From the arts to the cultural splendor, from the casinos to its unprecedented natural surroundings, Reno is a city rich in both tradition and fresh entertainment.

Minutes from world-famous Lake Tahoe, the Reno-Sparks community is surrounded by natural beauty and limitless recreational opportunities. The Reno-Sparks-Lake Tahoe region has over 18 world-class ski resorts, many just a short 45-minutes from downtown, and 40-plus golf courses. The area also boasts 60 gaming locations, the National Bowling Stadium, the National Automobile Museum, Rancho San Rafael Park’s Arboretum and Wilbur D. May Great Basin Adventure, the historic boomtown of Virginia City, and world-class fishing, hiking, biking and numerous other outdoor activities. The quality of life in the region is tough to beat.

At 4500 feet altitude, the Reno area offers four distinct seasons with few extremes. Average temperatures range from winter lows in the 20’s to summer highs in the 90’s. Low humidity characterizes the area, making the cool days seem not so cold and the warm days not so hot. Rain is scarce, snow is certain. Here the sun shines more than 300 days a year.

Tax benefits (no corporate, personal income, unitary, inventory, or franchise tax), accessibility to western markets, transportation hub, abundance of available industrial/office/commercial space, advanced telecommunications infrastructure, business-friendly regulations, and high quality of life make Reno/Sparks/Lake Tahoe an extremely attractive place to do business and live.

Reno/Sparks Economy

Reno's economy is principally based in the trade and service sector, with approximately 65% of the work force employed in these occupations. Although gaming and other recreational activities represent a significant portion of the growing economy and assessed valuation, the City is experiencing a gradual diversification of its business base with the expansion of distribution, warehousing, and manufacturing facilities. Approximately 25% of the workforce is employed in the fields of construction, manufacturing, transportation, communications, public utilities, and finance related services.

The Reno area is serviced by two major highways. Union Pacific railroad and a number of trucking and airline carriers make it possible to ship Reno to 80% of the 11 western states on a next-day basis.

Nevada has no corporate or personal income tax, and is a right-to-work state. These factors have contributed to the State's tremendous growth in the 1990's and into the 2000's. In 2005, Inc. Magazine named Reno No1 on its list of the "Best Places to Do Business in America," based on job growth figures among 274 metropolitan areas.

In addition to the accomplishments of the Economic Development Authority of Western Nevada in bringing new business to Northern Nevada, the City of Reno Economic and Redevelopment Agency has begun both entertainment and housing projects in the City's downtown sector.

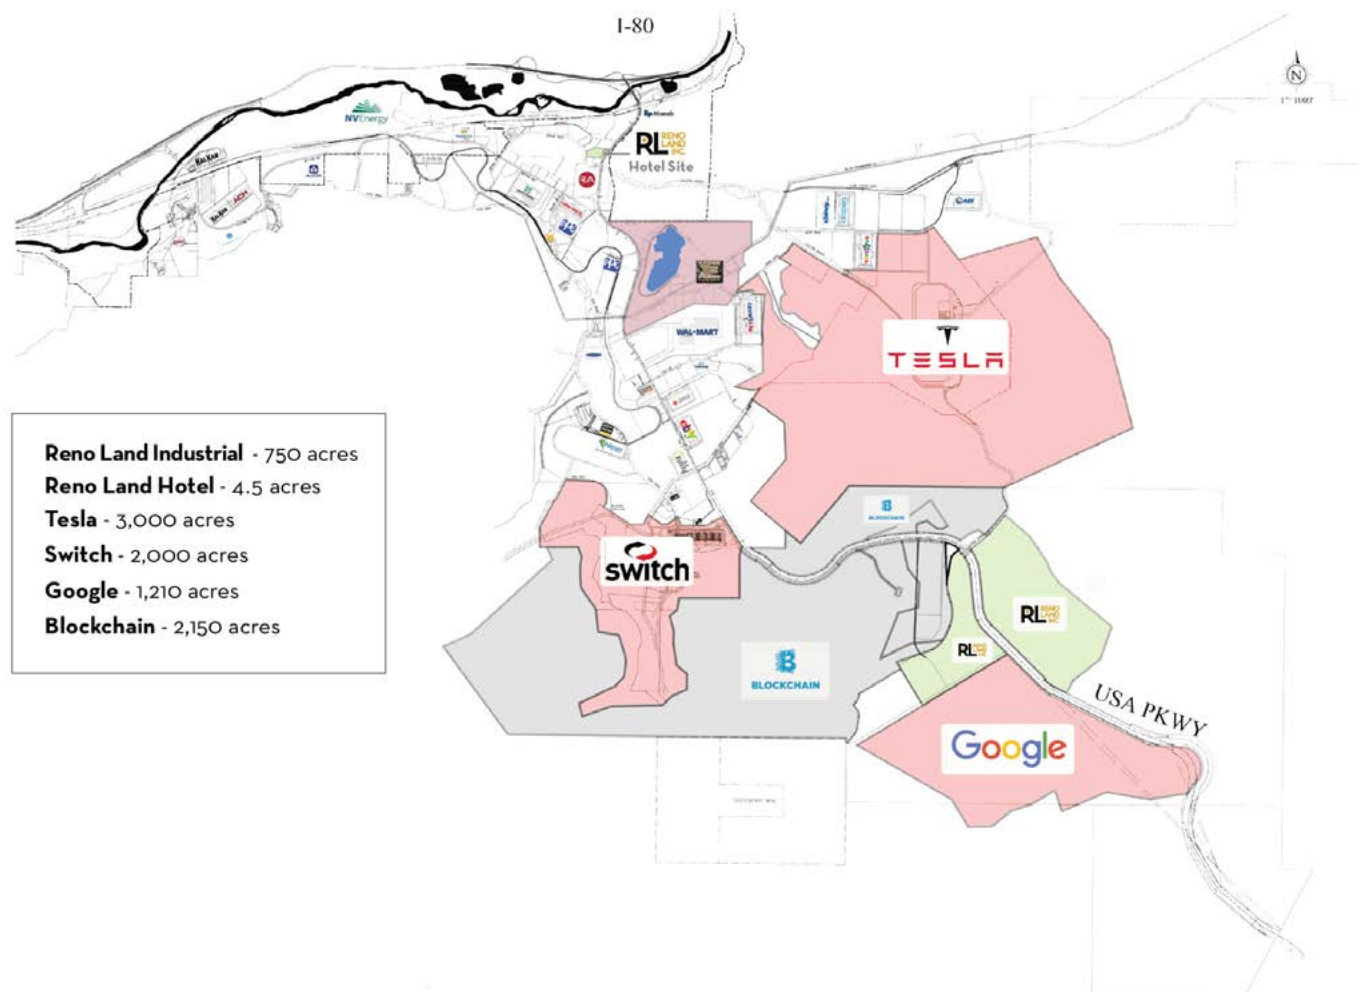

Over thirty million dollars of City and one billion dollars in private/other public investment has been made in downtown Reno to modernize and beautify infrastructure and facilities. A maintenance district was established to ensure that the downtown area will remain clean and beautiful. The City also established a police district downtown to ensure a safer environment.

Tahoe Reno Industrial Center

As the Tahoe Reno area continues to expand, more companies continue to move over to the vast open land in our beloved Silver State. Companies such as Tesla, Google, Switch, and Blockchain hope to create the next Silicon Valley and bring thousands of employment opportunities for native residents and all those to come.

Tesla Battery Gigafactory

California electric car maker Tesla, in partnership with Japan's Panasonic Corp., is building the world's largest lithium ion battery factory at the 165-square-mile Tahoe-Reno Industrial Center 20 miles east of Reno. The industrial center encompasses about 60 percent of Storey County's land mass.

Word that Tesla Motors is taking up residency in Northern Nevada has companies around the world doing a double-take of the Reno-Sparks area and inquiring about what the Silver State has to offer, an economic development official said. "It puts us not only on the national radar for site selectors and companies looking for locations in the West, but we're getting calls from across the globe — Belgium, Germany, China," said Mike Kazmierski, president and chief executive officer of the Economic Development Authority of Western Nevada.

"What is often missed is all the secondary jobs. The companies that need to or want to be in the vicinity of Tesla," Kazmierski said. "And then many other companies that just want to be in the area now that Tesla has identified this region as a great place for advanced manufacturing." "Tesla moving to Nevada will create a domino effect as many more businesses will follow," agreed Robert Hooper, executive director of the Northern Nevada Development Authority.

A look at the $100 billion estimated economic impact from the Tesla Gigafactory:

- 6,500 direct factory employees earning an average wage above $25 an hour
- 3,000 construction jobs
- $1.5 billion indirect tax revenue generated over 20 years
- $400 million direct tax revenue generated beginning in 2024
- 16,000 indirect jobs once the factory is up and running
- Overall job creation equal to 2 percent of state's workforce and 11 percent of the region's workforce
- A 4 percent increase in the state's GDP is expected and the region's economic output is expected to jump by 20 percent

University of Nevada, Reno

The University of Nevada, Reno is the state's historic flagship institution of higher education. The University has a student enrollment of more than 16,000, including about 3,200 graduate students, and a total budget of nearly $500 million.

The University provides a broad range of programs and degree options, ranging from baccalaureate degrees in more than 75 disciplines to more than 100 graduate-degree programs at the master's and doctoral level. The University of Nevada School of Medicine is a vital component of the University, with campuses in both of Nevada's major urban centers, Las Vegas and Reno, and a health network that extends to much of rural Nevada.

The University of Nevada was founded in 1874 in Elko as the state's first institution of higher education. Relocated to Reno in 1887, the University remained the state's only institution of higher education for 75 years. The first building on the Reno campus, Morrill Hall, is still in use today, and the campus has grown from a small cluster of buildings surrounding a central quadrangle (modeled after Thomas Jefferson's design for the University of Virginia), to a 250-acre site just north of downtown Reno. The University is one of eight institutions of higher education governed by the Nevada System of Higher Education.

The University has 76 undergraduate degree programs, and more than 100 graduate degree programs (66 master's and 37 doctoral programs) from which students may choose. New majors approved recently include Atmospheric Sciences, Environmental Science, Forest and Rangeland Management, Wildlife Ecology, and Computer and Information Engineering. The University is also in the process of adding new Ph.D. programs in Mathematics, Statistics, and Geography, and a new interdisciplinary undergraduate program in Environmental Studies. The tuition for Nevada resident undergraduates is among the lowest in the western United States and is a reflection of the Board of Regents' and state legislature's policy to provide access to as many Nevada high school graduates as are qualified. For example, the resident undergraduate tuition and fees total $2,850, which is lower than all but one of 15 western states. Non-resident undergraduate tuition and fees total $11,524 which is at the median for the western states.

Coupled with its status as a land-grant institution, the University necessarily has a statewide mission and boasts programs and activities in all 17 counties of the state. It has more than 700 employees outside the Reno area, most of them in Las Vegas. It plays a critical role in the promotion of health throughout the state through its Schools of Medicine, Nursing, and Public Health.

The University's athletics programs compete in NCAA Division I as part of the Western Athletic Conference (WAC). The University fields competitive teams in 18 sports, with seven men's sports and 11 women's sports teams offering scholarships.

Washoe County School District Highlights

New construction projects are underway to build and repair our schools due to voters who helped pass the ballot question (WC-1) in 2016. This provided the school district with enough capital to fund the repairs and building of new schools.

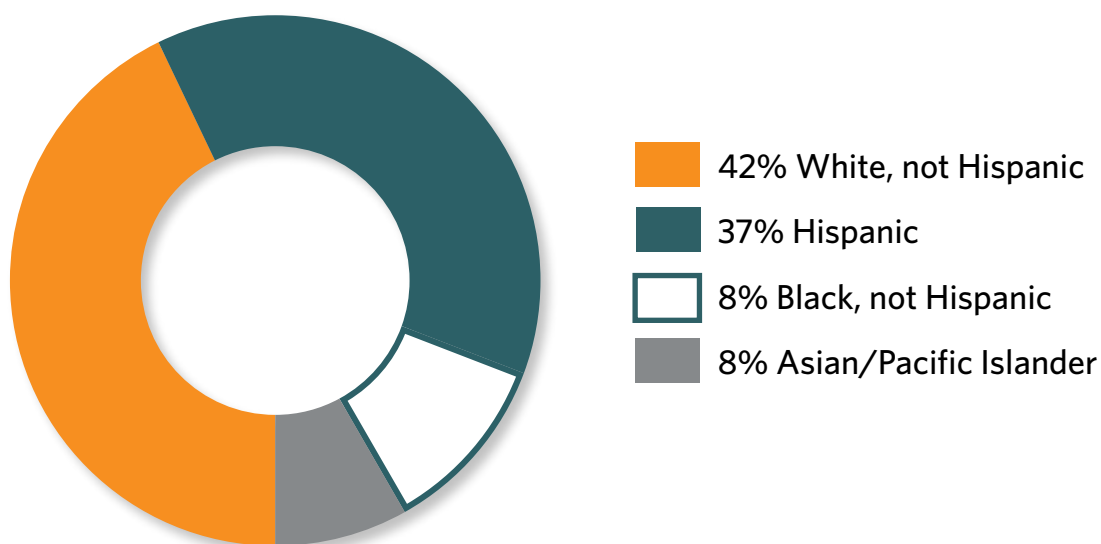

A new highschool will open at Wildcreek, the land has already been acquired and final designs are underway. This will act as the new existing Procter Hug High School zone and will help improve the overcrowding. It will open in August 2022.

Procter Hug High School will be converted into a Career & Technical Academy once all of the students are moved over to the new High School in Wild Creek. It is scheduled to reopen in August 2023.

2 million dollars worth of security upgrades have been added to all the schools in the district.

Choose your favorite outdoor activity and Nevada State Parks will provide a place for it. Nevada’s 23 state parks, recreation areas and historic sites are stretched across terrains as diverse as alpine forests and bonedry deserts. Among them are natural lakes and man-made reservoirs, such as world-famous, 22 mile long Lake Tahoe or the much smaller Echo Canyon and its 35-acre reservoir. Other parks provide glimpses into the past. Valley of Fire is one of the state’s oldest, with 3,000-year-old petroglyphs carved in sandstone and breathtaking views of the maroon-colored rock formations created during the age of the dinosaurs. Mormon Station in Genoa and the Old Las Vegas Mormon Fort feature replicas of 19th-century fortifications and visitor centers explaining regional history. Many campgrounds and RV facilities are open all year, depending on the weather - you can even stay in a yurt at Cave Lake State Park near Ely. Trailheads are well marked, and facilities at many parks include RV dump stations, showers and day use facilities for groups.
