REASONS TO BUY A HOME

Deciding whether to jump into the housing market or rent instead is rarely an easy decision – especially if you’re a first-time homebuyer. And even if you’ve bought a home before and are contemplating investing in another, it’s helpful to be reminded of all the wonderful reasons to become a homeowner.

Quality of Life

Our living situation directly impacts how we feel about our quality of life, which is why many people dream of the day they have a home to call their own.

Financial Health

Buying a home is one of the best ways to protect and grow your wealth. Real estate will typically ride out a market’s ups and downs and appreciate with time. You’ll also build equity as you pay down your mortgage.

Stability

Rental prices over the last 10 years in the U.S. have increased by over 42%.* In contrast, your fixed-rate mortgage payments on your home won't rise at all except for the taxes and homeowners insurance

Tax Deductions

Homeowners receive tax deductions for mortgage interest and property taxes, which are both deductible on an individual's federal income tax return.

Independence

The freedom to do whatever they wish with their homes is a big incentive for many new homeowners, while others can't wait to get out from under the thumb of their landlord.

CHOOSING YOUR AGENT

When you're buying a home, it's crucial to work with a qualified real estate agent. Not just a professional but a fantastic agent and a market expert who will best serve your specific needs. So, how do you ensure you're hiring an exceptional real estate agent? Start by asking them the following questions.

5 Critical Questions to Ask A Potential Agent (And What to Look for in Their Answers)

1. Can you send me some information about yourself?

Please make sure to look for professionalism and consistency. What are their professional accomplishments? How do they approach their work? The best agent is a business person with a strategy and solid support system.

2. How long have you been in real estate?

The average Realtor has ten years of experience. But while longevity is important, the number of transactions they have closed or been involved in is even more telling. Ask about their team's dynamic and accomplishments if they're a newer agent.

3. Do you have references from past clients?

An agent who provides 5-star service and is proud of their work will happily provide references. You can also look at their ratings and reviews on sites like Google.

4. What will you do to keep me informed?

Do you want daily or weekly reports from your agent? Will the agent be able to meet these expectations? Determine how much communication you want, and then find an agent who will give you the attention and time you want and deserve.

5. Can you provide me with further resources I may need?

From market reports to pricing trends, top agents have resources at their disposal. In addition, local experts have built relationships with their extended team of professionals and can often get priority service should a need arise.

YOUR BUYING POWER

If you're in the market for a new home or investment property, one of the first questions you'll probably ask is, "What can we afford?"

A common misunderstanding is that a home's list price determines whether or not you can purchase it. But that price doesn't include housing-related expenses, such as annual property taxes, homeowner insurance, or any maintenance. Remember, you'll live with your monthly payment, not the sales price.

Therefore, you should ask, "What is our buying power?"

BUYING POWER DEFINED

Your buying power is comprised of the total amount of money you have available each month for a mortgage payment. This means the money you have each month after fixed bills and expenses, as well as any money you've saved for a down payment, the proceeds from the sale of your current home (if applicable), and the amount of money you're qualified to borrow.

WHY BUYING POWER MATTERS

Once you have clarity on your buying power, you'll be able to buy the home you want instead of settling for a home because you feel it's the only one you can afford.

It will also prevent you from becoming "house poor," a common term for someone who's put all their money toward the down payment, leaving them nothing left over for fees outside of their monthly house payment.

Both scenarios can negatively impact the lifestyle you want to live. Understanding your buying power can help you get the home you want without sacrificing the lifestyle you desire.

SAVING FOR A DOWN PAYMENT

Your buying power is also impacted by the down payment you plan to make on your next home because the more you can put down, the less you will have to borrow. In addition, with a down payment of 20% or more, you won't have to purchase private mortgage insurance (PMI), and you may also be able to negotiate a lower interest rate.

Read on for advice on how to save for your down payment.

FIRST-TIME BUYERS

If you're thinking of buying a home one day, one of the first steps is to start saving for a down payment. Here are some tips to make saving easier.

- 1. Set a savings goal. One way to figure out how much to save is to use the average sales price for homes similar to what you want to determine your target down payment percentage.
- 2. Cut back on expenses. Review your monthly expenses and look for ways to save. Think about items you can live without or temporarily cut back while saving.
- 3. Look for ways to boost your income. Get a side job or sell items online or at a garage sale to increase your income in a short amount of time. Be sure to save any windfalls you get, including your annual income tax refund or work bonuses.
- 4. Check out home-buying programs. Your state, county, or local government may offer special programs, such as grants, for first-time buyers to use.
- 5. Ask your family. Twenty-three percent of first-time buyers were given money from family or friends to use toward the down payment on their home.*

SAVING FOR A DOWN PAYMENT

REPEAT BUYERS

If you're thinking of buying another home, here are more ways to save more money in addition to the tips listed above:

- 1. Rent a room. If you have an income flat (or mother-in-law unit) attached to your home, rent it out and channel the income into a high-interest savings account.
- 2. Make your money work for you. If you don't plan to buy for at least five years, invest it and let the compound interest work for you. Discuss this option with your financial planner or broker to see if this is ideal for you and your goals.
- 3. Tap into your 401(k). If you have a 401(k) plan, you may be allowed to borrow a portion of the lessor of up to $50,000, or half of its value, for your down payment. Remember, it's a loan, so you must pay it back. If you leave or lose your job before you've repaid the loan, you'll have between 60 to 90 days to repay the balance or face stiff taxes and penalties.

INVESTORS

Whether you're buying a second home or a rental property, here are a couple more tips to save for a down payment.

- 1. Tap into your equity. If you've paid off or paid down your mortgage on your primary home, you may be able to tap into your equity to purchase another property. Contact your lender to learn more about a HELOC or home equity loan.
- 2. Get a partner. Find a friend or relative who's willing to purchase property with you. Typically, you'll split the costs and profits equally. Work with an attorney to create a partnership agreement that fits your situation.

GETTING PREAPPROVED

In the last year, 80% of buyers financed their home purchase. First-time buyers who financed their home typically financed 91% of their home, and repeat buyers financed 81%.* If you will need a loan to purchase your next property, the most crucial step you can take is to get pre-approved.

Getting preapproved gives you clarity on how much you can afford, which makes it crucial to do before you start your home search. You've estimated your buying power already in this guide; a preapproval is concrete proof of that number. Knowing it will ensure you avoid accidentally falling in love with a home outside your budget.

In addition, having a preapproval letter proves to sellers that you are serious about buying and will be able to make good on your offer. This is an essential competitive advantage in tight markets like the Phoenix Metro Area. You don't want to lose out on the home of your dreams just because someone else had all their ducks in a row and you didn't.

PREAPPROVAL VS PREQUALIFICATION

The two terms are often confused because they are so similar. But in reality, they are very different, and it's vital that you understand the distinction.

- Prequalification — An estimate of how much you could qualify to borrow. It doesn't entail a credit check or official documentation.
- Preapproval — Proof of your buying power. It requires a complete loan application, a credit check, and documentation regarding your income and assets.

FINDING YOUR NEXT HOME

Whether you're a first-time buyer or a seasoned homeowner, shopping for a new home can feel daunting. For more than half of home buyers, the most challenging step in the home buying process was finding the right property at 59%, which was even higher for Younger Millennials at 60%.*

That's why we teach our buyer clients to focus on the WHY, WHERE, and WHAT.

The first step to finding your ideal home is determining WHY you want to move. Do you need more space? Access to your preferred schools? Less maintenance? Or are you tired of wasting money on rent when you could be building equity? Pinpointing the reasons you want to move can help you assess your priorities for your home search.

Next, you need to determine WHERE you'd like to buy. Do you prefer a rural, urban, or suburban setting? How long of a commute are you willing to make? Which areas feed into your preferred schools? These decisions will impact your day-to-day life while you live in the home.

Finally, think about WHAT kind of home you want to live in. Start with the basics, like your ideal number of bedrooms, bathrooms, and square footage. Do you prefer a one-story or two-story layout? Do you want a swimming pool?

Remember, you may not find a home with all your "wants," or even all of your "needs." If you're faced with a tough choice about how or what to compromise in your home search, return to your WHY.

MAKING AN OFFER

Once you find a home that fits your WHY, WHERE, and WHAT, it's time to make an offer. Yes, a high offer price gets attention. However, most sellers consider a variety of factors when evaluating an offer. With that in mind, here are three other tactics to sweeten your proposal and outshine your competition.

Put Down a Sizable Deposit

Buyers can show sellers they're serious about their offer and have "skin in the game" by putting down a large earnest money deposit. We can help you determine an appropriate deposit based on your specific circumstances.

Ask for Few (or No) Contingencies

Buyers in a competitive market often volunteer to waive certain contingencies, which are clauses that allow one or both parties to back out of the agreement if certain conditions are not met. We can help you assess the risks and benefits involved in this offer strategy.

Offer a Flexible Closing Date and/or Leaseback Option

People sell their homes for various reasons, and flexible terms that work with their situations can sometimes make all the difference. We can contact the listing agent to determine the seller's preferred terms and then collaborate with you to write a compelling offer that works for both parties.

YOUR FIDUCIARY ADVOCATE

We can help you compete in today's market with offers that are designed to win over both the seller and their listing agent, without letting you get steamrolled.
